MEETING OF THE OLD MEN'S CLUB

tered out in 1865; member of Methodist church; served as constable and justice of the peace of Freedom township for years and in 1870 was assistant U. S. Marshal; postoffice Concordia.

Five members have died since the last meeting, E. D. Emerson, H. H. Hughes, Lemuel W. Phillips, William A. Redd, and Charles L. Simpson, committees to prepare on memorials as follows:

On the death of E. D. Emerson—C. J. Lewis and James M. Winn.

On the death of H. H. Hughes—J. E. Rigg and J. B. Santmeyer.

On the death of Lemuel W. Phillips—Charles A. Graham.

On the death of William A. Redd—R. P. Harwood and Wilson Malone.

On the death of Charles L. Simpson—W. L. Smith and T. T. Puckett.

Under the head of remarks appreciative talks were made by Rev. Kennedy, J. T. W. McKean, and H. W. Thiemann.

The citizens of Dover extended an invitation asking that the Club hold the September meeting there, and the same was unanimously accepted.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the hearty and appreciative thanks of the members of this Club are hereby tendered the Commercial Club, the band and the citizenship of Concordia and vicinity for the very hospitable and generous manner in which they entertained the Club on this occasion.

Rev. Kennedy then closed the proceedings with prayer and the club adjourned to meet at Dover on Saturday, September 23, 1916.

On adjournment the club and a large number of friends repaired to Concordia's city park to partake of the sumptuous feast that had been provided. The dinner was spread in the park on tables under the shade trees.

The meal was a princely one, the tables being laden with all the good things that a lively imagination could suggest. The dinner was, it is unnecessary to say, a bounteous feast of good things, and was served with elegance and genuine hospitality.

Dinner over, Concordia's unrivaled band, every member of which is a master musician from 2 to 4 o'clock enlivened the occasion with the choicest of music, and this treat was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Just before adjourning Rev. Kennedy, on behalf of the Club, extended heartiest thanks to the Commercial Club, the band, the ladies and to Judge Klingenberg and his son, George Klingenberg for one of the most enjoyable and pleasurable meetings in the Club's history.

There was but one more conclusion, the citizenship of progressive Concordia and vicinity are thoroughly versed in the art of entertaining, and particularly will this meeting be recalled with great pleasure, and with a longing to meet at Concordia again in the near future.

Dr. Chas. B. Kingery of the firm of Snyder and Kingery, Osteopathic physicians, successors to Dr. E. J. Kampf, arrived Monday accompanied by his bride. Dr. Kingery was married in Kirksville, Monday, June 5th, to Miss Georgia Dubeck. They will occupy the cottage of A. W. Clemens on East Main street.

Walter Grinstaff who was arrested several days ago for flourishing a deadly weapon, was given his preliminary Monday before Justice of the Peace Clyde Wright. He was bound over to the August term of the criminal court and released on bond.

ELKS WILL CELEBRATE FLAG

DAY, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 14

Something Doing From 1 o'Clock Until Long Into the Night. Merchants Will Be Asked to Close.

Wednesday, June 14, is Flag Day and the local Elks are making arrangements to celebrate the event. The frivolities will commence in the afternoon with a parade of all the Elks, bands of music and all citizens who care to join. The parade will end at Association Ball Park, where a ball game will be played between the leans and fats. It will be recalled that the leans carried off the honors last year much to the chagrin of the fats. The fats will endeavor this time to turn the tables. They can't do it, of course, but will try, and you know how funny a fat man looks when he is trying to do something he can't. Their antics alone will be worth the price of admission—two bits, on the spot. 10 cents extra for private seat.

After the fats have been properly humbled at the ball game and everybody has had supper,

Col. J. C. Graddy will have charge of the parade and "Stubby" Day's band.
